The fight broke out between two sets of fans linked to Bristol City and Bristol Rovers on Sunday, Avon and Somerset Police said.

Footage on social media appeared to show the two groups squaring off before throwing tables, chairs and advertising boards at each other.

Police said detectives were working to trace those involved and they would face football banning orders.

The fight broke out near the Elbow Room bar in Bristol at 3.20pm, shortly after England had beaten Panama 6-1 to go through to the knockout stages of the tournament. Chief Inspector John Holt said: "We want everyone only the World Cup but we will not tolerate violence and disorder.

"This incident took place after England's win against Panama when fans should have been celebrating, but instead these individuals became involved in an unacceptable public display of violence.

"Those found guilty of offences will not only face the possibility of a prison sentence but will also face a football banning order".

Captain Ray Boggs, of the Stone
County Sheriff's Department, recounted what was said at a preliminary hearing.

Mutilated

According to the local newspaper in Stone County, Mississippi, he said: "Johnson told me that he beat her up real bad. He said it got out of hand."

Officers found the woman's headless corpse earlier this month after they were asked to check on the victim as her siblings had grown worried because they hadn't heard from her for a while. Instead of finding the lady alive and well, they stumbled across her mutilated body in the back garden and her head had been tessed over and her head had been tossed over the fence.

Johnson's lawyer, Jim Davis, told reporters that he is currently weighing up the possibility of an insanity defence.

He said: "Johnson does have a substantial history and you all heard details of the case. That's not a normal homicide.

"But we've get to weit until you."

"But we've got to wait until we get the records and probably have him properly evaluated. Then, we'll kind of know where we're headed."

A grand jury must now decide whether he should be formally charged.

Army vet Johnson was expelled by the Department of Veterans Affairs after an earlier arrest.

Afterwards, the defendants threw her body on a bonfire in the garden of their Wimbledon home.

When firefighters were called to investigate the smell, Medouni said it was the remains of a sheep.

Revenge

And Kouider went on to try to frame her ex-boyfriend Mr Walton for the nanny's disappearance, to exact "revenge".

The defendants later perverting the course of justice but blamed each other for killing Miss Lionnet, as she was tortured with water in the bath.

Lionnet, as she was tortured with water in the bath.

But a jury at the Old Bailey found both guilty of murder.

Jailing them for a minimum of 30 years each, Judge Nicholas Hilliard QC said the allegations levelled against "kind, gentle and good-natured" Miss Lionnet were a "complete fiction".

Judge Hilliard told the couple: "I'm sure on all the evidence you were both involved in torturing Sophie.

"The suffering and the torture you put her through before her death was prolonged and without pity."

Koulder was motivated by an unjustified desire to make Miss Lionnet and Mr Walton "suffer".

Rather than handing the taped 'confession' to police, Judge Hilliard said they could have planned to use it to extract money from the wealthy music mogul.

The judge told Kouider: "I do not think you thought for one moment you were acting lawfully. I'm sure you knew the way you interrogated her was unacceptable in the extreme, that it was unlawful to assault her and she was in a dreadful state by the time of her death and torturing her was totally and utterly wrong."

Earlier, Miss Lionnet's tearful mother, Catherine Devallonne, said: "These self-obsessed individuals who murdered Sophie did not believe Sophie had a value. Those monsters repeatedly beat her. They starved, tortured and broke her until she could no longer fight."

Dear Sam.

EVER since this white van pulled up outside our works, not only am I getting the best bacon sandwiches, but my sausage is getting well and truly cooked.

The woman who runs the van is not really a looker but she's as horny as hell. I get my fill in the morning and then every afternoon tea break she gets her fill.

She serves through a hatch in the side of the van but she lets me in through the back doors when no-one's about and we get down to business.

She never wears panties so is always wet and ready for me to slide into her, and I have to say it doesn't usually take too long for me to finish since she bucks like a frantic mule.

I don't think I'm the only one among the lads porking her but she makes me feel very special when she sucks my cock.

It's been great but now she says she's moving away because she's not getting enough takings. What can I do?

Dear Sam,

MY mate caught me having it off with his mum last week. She's 42, blonde, with a cracking body. I'm 18.

My pal had come home early from college when he saw me with my dick up her arse and my fingers in her fanny. He went mental and we had a fight.

It was pretty inconclusive but of course the mum was pretty upset about it all, and I don't think she'll be up for another shagging session anytime soon.

I tried to explain to my pal that if his dad had been doing his duty properly it wouldn't have happened but that only seemed to make him more angry and he threw me out.

The only trouble is that he owes me £500 after he bought my car last month. I've since asked for the money but he just tells me to fk off. What should I do?

PE, Tynesid

Sam says...
I THINK you've had your money's worth, don't you?

Recently I was sent to an upmarket apartment, where I was greeted by a stylish woman in here early 50s – about 20 years older than me.

When we sat down in the lounge I caught a glimpse of her stocking tops. It sent my cock rigid and I asked to go to the bathroom to cool down.

Once inside, I found a pair of black stockings and I sniffed them before rubbing one against my cock.

At that moment the client burst in. Far from being outraged, she took my todger in her mouth to give me the blowjob of a lifetime.

Then I shagged her from behind with just her hold-up stockings on.
Now she's decided not to move and wants me to move in with her.
What do you think?

When I got to the office I was the only one in apart from one of the PAs, a fit redhead in her 20s.

But she didn't stop there. She leaned over and wrapped her lips over the glistening tip and started sucking.

She was an absolute expert at giving head and had my dick twitching as she sucked me off and squeezed my balls.

Then she got up, slid down her skirt and knickers and sat astride me on the chair. With an experienced hand, she guided my love-sausage into its moist target. I wasted little time and was soon boning her vigorously while squeezing her lovely boobs. After a few minutes I spunked what felt like gallons of man-milk. It was the best day at work I have ever had and now we are seeing each other regularly outside the office. I can't believe my luck – and it's all thanks to you.

Barry McHugh jumps back on today and he is two from two on him so that has to be a major plus and as long as he doesn't get himself too far back in the field turning in, he will be flying past the leaders late on.

Crocked Ox backs Lions to win it!

ALEX Oxlade-Chamberlain fears he's going to miss out

The Liverpool midfielder says it's difficult watching the Three Lions do so well in Russia on the telly while he

The 24-year-old was certain to be part of Gareth

Jordan Henderson and Trent Alexander Arnold and thinks the Three Lions have enough quality to go very close to winning it.

He said: "I've been watching the World Cup — following

ARSENE Wenger believes Kyle Walker will cost England dear at the World Cup. The former Arsenal gaffer thinks the Manchester City

The former Arsenal gaffer thinks the Manchester City man is not a proper defender and he shouldn't be playing at the heart of the Three Lions' back three.

Wenger was not known for drilling his own defence particularly well in the closing years of his time in north London. But he did manage the likes of Tony Adams and Martin Keown so should know what a centre-half looks like. And according to the Frenchman, that's not Walker. He said: "He is not a real defender, and especially not a central defender.

"He can be subject to defensive mistakes, which he would not pay for when

"That's why the Southgate is playing a dangerous game by fielding Walker as a central defender.
